An aerial photograph of a city street, likely in Cienfuegos, Cuba. The street is wide and paved, with a large white bus and a smaller white van driving. On the right side of the street, there is a long, white building with a series of arches along its side. In the background, a large white building with a prominent red dome is visible. The left side of the street is lined with tall palm trees and green benches. The sky is clear and blue.
